Having a 103° temp in college changed my perspective. First time having to truly take care of myself in that situation without my family / parents. It is the most ibuprofen i have ever taken in my life.

There's an underlying competitive tension @ every business frat event. I call it the Kelley tension and it is everyone's extremely high ~~ego~~ ego & drive for the same things.

↳ It is a constant vibe at anything business related (is it ever healthy competition, when does it become unhealthy?)

I also get emotional everytime a Frat presents their presentation.

I truly have never felt so much love from individuals talking about a community, I'm genuinely in love and will cry for them.

Eating mindfully at the dining hall is one of the most difficult experiences of my life. I miss my kitchen and want to be able to cook to my preferences. You can tell a lot about a person through their eating habits & what they get at the dining hall, if you pay close attention.

I wonder how this feel is sourced and why it has slowly worsened since we got here.

Today while we studied at the McNutt Starbucks I met the sweetest Bloomington native.

She invited us over for homecooked food and I would've gone but it felt too early but that was genuinely so sweet and I really appreciate her kindness ♡
